Employability

A relevant factor in reshaping the student experience?

Yes!

“The international economy is evolving. The employment market is changing. ... in an environment of ongoing disruptive technologies and economic structural change, we are preparing graduates for jobs that have not even been defined today.”

Definitions

- Graduate Employability means that higher education alumni have developed the capacity to obtain and/or create work and that, institutions and employers have supported the student knowledge, skills, attributes, reflective disposition and identity that graduates need to succeed in the workforce (Knight & Yorke, 2004; Yorke, 2006; Yorke & Knight, 2006).
- Extra-curricular and Co-curricular activities mean student recreational and/or leisure pursuits that take place outside of regular curriculum or program of disciplinary learning outcomes. These activities are pursued beyond the classroom and/or online learning.

Extra-curricular activities are separate and apart from the formal learning program.

Higher education institutions align co-curricular activities with formal schooling so that such activities are part of the overall learning

- experience.
